35TH INTERNATIONAL SAXOPHONE SYMPOSIUM

AMERICA'S

A GLOBAL FORCE FOR GOOD.™

JANUARY 20 AND 21, 2012
GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY
FAIRFAX, VA.

A Message from the Commanding Officer

It gives me great pleasure to be at the helm of the U.S. Navy Band as it hosts the 35th International Saxophone Symposium, one of the largest events of its kind in the world. If you read the history of the symposium included in this program, you'll realize that it's grown from a humble two-day event held in the Washington Navy Yard's historic Sail Loft to one that occupies several buildings at George Mason University. The symposium appeals to musicians of all ages and interests: military, university and high school teachers and students and civilian performers, and helps fulfill part of our mission to preserve our national musical heritage and project a positive Navy image.

The symposium has also made a name for itself over the years in presenting world-class soloists, and this year is no exception.

The Concert Band's performance on Friday, Jan. 20, will feature the internationally renowned soloist and recording artist, Mario Marzi, the Concert Band's principal saxophonist Musician 1st Class Jonathan Yanik, the world-famous Diastema Saxophone Quartet and one of the foremost classical saxophonists of our time and the founder of the Saxophone Symposium, retired Master Chief Musician Dale Underwood. On Saturday, Jan. 21, the Commodores' concert will feature the acclaimed jazz saxophonist and composer, Donny McCaslin. I'm humbled to be sharing the stage with such an impressive lineup of soloists. I think you'll be impressed as well with the list of clinicians and recitalists that are scheduled for this year's symposium.

I would personally like to thank all the participants as well as the volunteers from the Navy Band for their hard work and effort to make this year's symposium one of the best ever.

Captain Brian O. Walden
Commanding Officer/Leader

HISTORY OF THE INTERNATIONAL SAXOPHONE SYMPOSIUM

During a 1977 summer saxophone conference in Brussels, then-Chief Musician Dale Underwood performed "Concertante" by Clare Grundman with the Royal Symphonic Band of the Belgian Guides, conducted by the U.S. Navy Band's leader, Cmdr. Ned Muffley. Later in the conference, Muffley discussed the possibility of hosting the band's own symposium. After some consideration, Muffley turned to Underwood and said, "we can do this and do it better." In those moments the United States Navy Band International Saxophone Symposium was born. Of course, this was just the idea. For anything to get done in the military, official orders must be given. Once back at the Washington Navy Yard, Underwood walked by Muffley's office and received his orders when he heard "Hey Dale, Sax Symposium, do it." Immediate planning began for the first symposium to be held on March 17-18, 1978 – less than a year away. Although Underwood had never planned anything of this magnitude before, he had attended many other saxophone conferences. He realized the unique potential of hosting a Navy Band Saxophone Symposium because, in addition to the Concert Band, he had access to the Commodores and could incorporate a jazz component to this conference. Additionally, this conference would also set itself apart from others by having fewer guest artists present more clinics and masterclasses divided equally between classical and jazz idioms.

The first concert had an international flavor with the appearance of guest soloist Elie Apper of the Royal Conservatory of Music and guest conductor Commandant Yvon Ducene of the Musique des Guides, both from Brussels, and whom Underwood had met the previous summer at the Belgian saxophone conference. The Friday evening concert featured Underwood, James Houlik and Donald Sinta. On Saturday night, the Commodores performed with jazz soloists Jim Boitos, Chad Evans, Tim Eyerman and Frank Foster. Since there was no budget for the first few Saxophone Symposiums, these and other guest artists had to be supported by their university, instrument sponsor or through other means. With a couple hundred people attending the Saturday afternoon clinics and a thousand in attendance at each the Friday and Saturday evening concerts, the Navy Band International Saxophone Symposium was a success.

Half-way through the first symposium Underwood was asked to begin planning the next year's symposium, which he did with the same amount of enthusiasm. After the third symposium, it was decided this was to become an annual event. Underwood, the saxophone section and the band's public affairs office would be busy organizing this event for years to come.

The first symposium took place at three different locations lying several miles apart – the Sail Loft at the Washington Navy Yard, Howard University, and the old Departmental Auditorium. The symposium found its current home at George Mason when the chairman of the department of music at George Mason University, legendary retired U.S. Air Force Band conductor Col. Arnald Gabriel, asked Underwood to consider moving the Navy Band's 1991 Saxophone Symposium to the brand new concert hall at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va. This large, state-of-the-art facility offered the potential to stage five events at once and has been the home of the symposium ever since. The current venue has enabled the Navy Band to increase the number of events on the program and attract even larger audiences. This expansion of the symposium has helped reflect the multifaceted nature of the saxophone and the performers who play the instrument.

For Underwood, the 1991 symposium was the most memorable one as Karel Husa guest conducted his compositions "Music for Prague" and "Concerto for Saxophone" with Underwood as the soloist. Underwood was later invited by Husa to perform the same concerto at his retirement ceremony from Cornell University in 1992.

One of the more difficult aspects of planning the Saxophone Symposium is finding various guest artists. In the symposium's early years, Underwood wanted to invite Zoot Sims and Phil Woods but performer's availability and Symposium dates didn't align. In spite of these difficulties, the Navy Band has hosted some of the biggest names in the saxophone community. The following saxophonists have performed with the Concert Band: Claude Delangle of the Paris Conservatory, Masahiro Maeda of the Osaka College of Music in Japan, Dragan Sremec of the Zabreb University Music Academy in Croatia, Arno Bornkamp of Amsterdam, Frederick Hemke of Northwestern University, Steven Mauk of Ithaca College, Debra Richtmeyer of the University of Illinois, Eugene Rousseau of Indiana University and the University of Minnesota and John Sampen of Bowling Green State University. Jazz greats who have performed with the Commodores include Branford Marsalis, Eddie Daniels, Dave Liebman, Chris Potter, Pete Christlieb, Bob Mintzer, Jim Snidero, Chris Vadala, and Grover Washington, Jr.

The legacy that Underwood began over 30 years ago has evolved into the largest two-day saxophone conference in the United States. The goal of the symposium has always been to provide a hands-on learning experience for saxophonists of all ages and abilities.

Under the leadership of Navy Band saxophonist Senior Chief Musician Timothy Roberts, the symposium was expanded to provide more clinics and masterclasses than ever before. In order to provide more national level performance opportunities for college saxophonists, Roberts and his team instituted the College Quartet Series in 2003. This sparked an increase in attendance and interest in saxophone chamber music by college and university students throughout the country. Roberts also continued the tradition of inviting international guest artists, and in the past ten years the band has featured soloists from Argentina, Canada, China, Croatia, England, France, Hong Kong, Japan, the Netherlands and Sweden.

The International Saxophone Symposium has always been a venue to hear new performers and compositions for saxophone. "Fantasia" by Claude Smith, "Gossamer Rings" by David Deason and "Essay for Tenor Saxophone" by David Ott received their world premiere performances at the 1983 symposium. "Soliloquy and Dance" by Elliot del Borgo, "Capriccio Concertante," "Iberian Sketches" and "Americana Suite" are among a few of the other works that were given premiere per-performances at the Saxophone Symposium. In addition to solos with band, recitalists are often programming works written within the past 15 years.

The history of the symposium is preserved on the Navy Band website. Using historical materials, pictures, sound clips and programs, the website seeks to be a year-round resource for all saxophonists.

CONCERT BAND

The United States Navy Concert Band, the premier wind ensemble of the U.S. Navy, presents a wide array of marches, patriotic selections, orchestral transcriptions and modern wind ensemble repertoire. As the original ensemble of the Navy Band, the Concert Band has been performing public concerts and participating in high-profile events for over 85 years.

Collaboration with celebrities has become a hallmark for the Concert Band. The band was featured with Arthur Godfrey of NBC radio fame in 1927. Gene Kelly was guest star for the first episode of "The Navy Hour" radio program in 1945, which the band produced for an astounding 23 years. More recently, the band featured guest artists Tony Curtis and Gregory Peck. In 2002, the band was filmed performing "America the Beautiful;" the performance was broadcast by the NFL prior to each game during opening week.

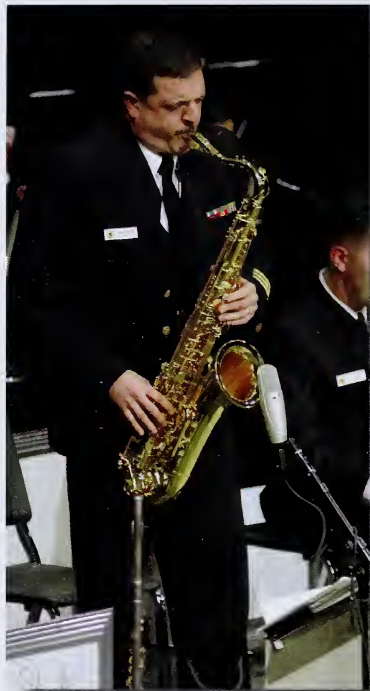

In addition to national concert tours and an extensive local concert season, the Concert Band has been featured internationally at military tattoos and festivals in Oslo, Stockholm and Quebec City. In 1996, the band was honored to participate in the 300th Anniversary of the Russian Fleet in St. Petersburg and in The Baltic International Festival of the Fleets in Kaliningrad, Russia.

Recognized as one of the finest wind ensembles in the world, the Concert Band is in constant demand by the nation's foremost musical education organizations, such as the American Bandmasters Association and The Midwest Clinic.

COMMODORES JAZZ ENSEMBLE

The Navy's premier jazz ensemble, the Commodores, presents the finest in America's truly original music. A specialty unit of the United States Navy Band in Washington, D.C., the group features 18 of the Navy's top jazz and "big band" musicians. Under the leadership of Senior Chief Musician Philip Burlin, the Commodores combine the best of jazz, popular and patriotic music.

Since their founding in 1969, the Commodores have become one of the most acclaimed jazz ensembles in the country. Many jazz legends have appeared with the group, such as Ray Charles, Stanley Turrentine, Louie Bellson, Terry Gibbs, Chris Potter, Jerry Bergonzi, Bob Mintzer, Dave Leibman, James Moody and Clark Terry. They have also appeared on ABC's "Good Morning, America." The ensemble is sought after by the nation's foremost jazz festivals and educational conferences such as the (former) International Association of Jazz Educators Convention, The Midwest Clinic, the Detroit/Montreux Jazz Festival and the Elkhart (Ind.) Jazz Festival. They are also featured at the annual Navy Band International Saxophone Symposium.

Their performances are high-energy affairs that not only pay tribute to the legendary big bands of yesterday, but also feature original compositions and arrangements by members of the group. In 2009, the Commodores released their latest compact disc, "Directions." The Commodores continue to preserve the great heritage of jazz while also being an innovative force for the future.

Capt. Brian O. Walden Commanding Officer/Leader

A native of Trenton, S.C., Capt. Brian O. Walden holds a bachelor's degree in music with a double major in religious studies from Saint Leo (Fla.) University and a master's degree in wind ensemble conducting from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass., where he was a student of Charles Peltz, Frank Battisti and William Drury. He also studied conducting with Richard Hoenich, former assistant conductor of the Montreal Symphony and doctoral level studies in music education at Boston University. A 2004 fellow at the Conductors Institute of the University of South Carolina, Walden has also studied music at the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, Northern Illinois University, Old Dominion University and Newberry (S.C.) College. He has guest conducted ensembles and performed as a trumpet instrumentalist in over 74 countries. He also holds a graduate diploma in national security strategic studies from the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, R.I.

Walden enlisted in the Navy in 1981 and served as a trumpet instrumentalist in Charleston, New Orleans, Guam, the Marianas Islands and Norfolk. Highlights of these tours were his selection as the Commander, Naval Forces Marianas Sailor of the Year (1988) as well as assistant leader of the U.S. Navy Showband for UNITAS (1991) throughout South America and Africa and tours onboard USS Mount Whitney (LCC 20), USS O'Bannon (DD987) and USS Barnstable County (LST 1197). Before assuming his current position, he was the leader of the U.S. Naval Academy Band. At the Navy School of Music in Little Creek, Va., he has served as the executive officer as well as the director of training. Other previous officer assignments include tours as the director of the Allied Forces Southern Europe (NATO) Band in Naples, Italy, and as the director of Navy Band Great Lakes (Ill.).

He has performed with the Virginia Wind Symphony, the Virginia Beach Symphony Orchestra and La Orquesta Salsa y Mas, a Latin salsa ensemble. He served as director of music at Saint Paul's United Methodist Church in Cambridge, Md., and as the orchestral brass instructor for the Virginia Beach Public Schools Academy of Visual and Performing Arts. He has lectured at Old Dominion University on the music of American composer Charles Ives. His current research project is on the music and literature of composer George Thaddeus Jones.

His awards include the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Joint Service Meritorious Unit Award, Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal, Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal (seven awards) and others.

Master Chief Musician Dale Underwood, USN retired

Acclaimed by The Washington Post as "the Heifetz of the alto saxophone," retired Master Chief Musician Dale Underwood is internationally recognized as one of the foremost classical saxophonists of our time. Underwood has toured extensively throughout the world as a featured soloist, performing in every state in the continental United States, Alaska as well as in England, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Sweden, Italy, Cuba, Brazil, Argentina, Russia, Ukraine, Mexico, Canada, Austria, Hungary, Spain and for Pope John Paul II at the Vatican.

A frequent guest soloist with leading orchestras throughout the United States and abroad, Underwood has performed with the Boston Pops Orchestra, the National Symphony Orchestra, Australian Wind Orchestra and the National Conservatory Orchestra in Sao Paulo, Brazil, among others. In 1993, Underwood made his Carnegie Hall debut in a program featuring Claude T. Smith's Fantasy and A Gershwin Fantasy (both written especially for Mr. Underwood)

In addition to being a sought after soloist, Mr. Underwood is also a noted recording artist. He has amassed a prolific discography of classical and contemporary works by leading composers Paul Creston, Jay Chattaway, Robert Muczynski and Maurice Whitney. His vast repertoire includes all of the standard saxophone concerti, as well as over thirty original works written especially for him by noted American composers such as Walter Hartley, Clare Grundman, Jay Chattaway, Alan Vizzutti and Ralph Martino.

Underwood was saxophone soloist with the United States Navy Band for 30 years, retiring in 1997. Inspired by his international performances, he organized the Navy Band's International Saxophone Symposium in 1978. Underwood is past president of the North American Saxophone Alliance. He is an honorary life member of Tri-M Music Honor Society, Kappa Kappa Psi, Missouri Music Educators and was one of the original founders of Saxophone Journal. He is currently saxophone professor at the Frost School of Music, University of Miami.

Mario Marzi

Mario Marzi, winner of nine national and four international competitions, has performed with the most important symphonic orchestras, amongst them the "Orchestra Sinfonica RAI di Torino," "Accademia naz. di Santa Cecilia," "Arena di Verona," "Teatro Comunale di Firenze," "Teatro alla Fenice di Venezia," "Orchestra della Svizzera Italiana" and the "Caracas Symphony Orchestra." Since 20 years he has been working with the "Teatro alla Scala" and with the "Filarmonica della Scala" under the baton of leading conductors R.

Muti, C. M. Giulini, G. Prêtre, L. Maazel, L. Berio, S. Bychkov, G. Sinopoli, W. Sawallisch, M. W. Chung, G. Dudamel, C. Abbado, R. Chailly and D. Harding.

Marzi often plays with Riccardo Muti and is regularly invited to join Zubin Mehta and the "Orchestra del Maggio Musicale Fiorentino" on concert tours. He has played at famous national and international festivals such as the "Biennale di Venezia," "Settembre Musica," "La Scala di Milano," "Accademia Filarmonica di Roma" and the "Ravenna Festival."

He devoted himself to 20th century repertoire and some of the most meaningful contemporary works for saxophone are dedicated to him. He has recorded for EMI, Edipan, Stradivarius, Agorà, BMG and Sony Classical. His recording of major saxophone concertos for soloist and orchestra, which he recorded with the G. Verdi Symphony Orchestra, conducted by H. Schellemlberger, was recently released in Italy by Amadeus and is now internationally released on ARTS (München). Marzi is a Rico artist.

Marzi teaches saxophone at the G. Verdi conservatory in Milan, and teaches post-graduate courses and masterclasses in Oporto, Amsterdam, Lisboa, Frankfurt, Beijing and Denver.

He is author of several educational scores for Carisch and his book "Il Saxofono Zecchini" was published in October 2009.

Diastema Saxophone Quartet

In January 1986, four saxophone players, each of them first prizes at Paris CNSM, took the initiative in creating a saxophone quartet. Diastema was born.

Philippe Lecocq, Christophe Bois, Philippe Braquart and Eric Devallon, who are saxophone teachers in Toulouse, Bourges, Montpellier and Bayonne conservatories, respectively, one day decided to gather and share their talents, brought together by their common passion: allowing people to discover the rich colors and the subtle tones a saxophone quartet can produce.

After a three month course at the Banff Centre in Canada, the quartet won the Granges-Les-Valences international saxophone quartet competition in 1989. In 1991 they received the first prize for French music interpretation at the Normandy Musical Forum. In 1992 they were prizewinners in the Paris International Chamber Music Competition. They also came in first at the Martigny International Chamber Music Competition in Switzerland. In 1993 they came in first at the Illzach International Music Competition in France.

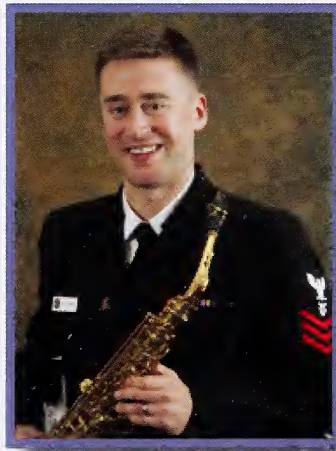

The four members of the quartet have also performed in renowned orchestras such as the Berlin Philharmonic, the Paris Orchestra, the Paris Opera Orchestra, the Radio France Philharmonic Orchestra, the Ensemble Intercontemporain, and the Toulouse Orchestre du Capitole, under well-known conductors Zubin Mehta, David Robertson, M.W.Chung, Marek Janovsky, Pierre Boulez and Michel Plasson.

Diastema is considered one of the best saxophone quartets in the world. The quartet has performed in numerous festivals in France and internationally (Spain, U.K., Italy, Switzerland, Canada, Morocco and Estonia) where the richness and the variety of their repertoire ranging from classical transcriptions to modern music have always attracted large and appreciative audiences.

Both musicians and music critics agree to the qualities which best define the Diastema quartet: perfect sound homogeneity, pure phrasing and technical virtuosity that rival string quartets. As Diastema cares a lot about enriching their repertoire, they have created various pieces of music through which they display a new conception of the concert to their audience.

Musician 1st Class Jonathan Yanik

Musician 1st Class Jonathan Yanik, a native of Simsbury, Conn., joined the Navy Band in April 2009 and was selected as principal saxophonist in 2011. He earned his Master of Music in saxophone from the University of Michigan, where he studied saxophone with Donald Sinta and Andrew Bishop, graduating with highest academic honors. Prior to studying at Michigan, Yanik earned his Bachelor of Music Education with high distinction from Indiana University in 2007, where he studied saxophone with Otis Murphy. Along with his duties at the Navy Band, Yanik is also currently the adjunct professor of saxophone at Towson University in Towson, Md.

Yanik is a versatile and enthusiastic musician who performs saxophone and multiple woodwinds in many different musical settings including orchestra, jazz, chamber, rock and pit orchestra. Before joining the Navy Band, Yanik worked as a musician in the Queen's Room Orchestra, playing jazz, dance band and popular styles aboard Cunard Cruise Line's Queen Victoria. He has also been successful in competitions, most notably winning the grand prize in the Heida Hermanns International Woodwind Competition in 2008.

Senior Chief Musician Philip Burlin

Senior Chief Musician Philip Burlin, a native of Camp Springs, Md., joined the Navy Band in 1991 and is the unit leader of the Commodores. He attended St. Mary's College of Maryland and later North Texas State University in Denton, Texas from 1979-1982.

At Western Maryland College in 1985, he directed the saxophone and clarinet quartets and taught jazz improvisation and classical saxophone. He has appeared with the St. Mary's College of Maryland Jazz Ensemble, the University of Maryland Jazz Ensemble, the Peabody Jazz Underground, the Les Elgart Orchestra, the Gary Thomas Quintet (opening for Miles Davis at the 1986 Eubie Blake Jazz Festival), and as a featured soloist with Electra recording artist, Danny Gatton (1987-1989). In 1988, he received a "Jazz Performance Grant" from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Burlin has been a featured soloist since joining the Navy Band. He has performed with jazz artists such as Charles McPherson, Bob Mintzer, Arturo Sandoval, Marvin Stamm, Stanley Turrentine, Ernie Watts, and Eugene "Snooky" Young at such venues as the Elkhart (Ind.) and Montreux (Detroit) jazz festivals, and conferences of the International Association for Jazz Education in Miami, New York, and Toronto. In addition, he was the producer of the Commodores recordings "Here and Now" and "Sessions on M Street" and has written numerous compositions and arrangements for the band.

His awards include the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal (two awards), Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal, and others.

Donny McCaslin

A graduate of the Berklee School of Music, Donny McCaslin has had a saxophone in his hands from his earliest years and has integrated the entire range of sounds that a tenor sax can produce into his repertoire: from mainstream modern to funky fusion to laid-back balmy ballads, all flavored with his own experimental style.

McCaslin's technique and expression allowed him to tour with all-star youth ensembles through Europe and Japan, and won him a full scholarship to Berklee College of Music starting in 1984. His main influences there included Gary Burton, Herb Pomeroy, Billy Pierce, George Garzone, and Joe Viola. During his senior year at Berklee he joined vibraphonist Burton's quintet, and for four years the group toured Europe, Japan, North America, and South America. During 1991, after moving to New York City, McCaslin became a member of Steps Ahead, and played with them for over three years. Michael Brecker, formerly of Steps Ahead, had been one of McCaslin's teenage idols; now McCaslin was replacing him. McCaslin co-wrote two of the compositions that appeared on the group's album "Vibe." During those same years McCaslin actively gigged with top jazz artists and groups, such as the Gil Evans Orchestra, George Gruntz Concert Jazz Band, the Danilo Perez Quartet, the Maria Schneider Jazz Orchestra, and Santi Debriano's Panamanians, plus he appeared on many recordings. In 1996 McCaslin was featured with John Medeski (organ), Doug Yates (clarinet), and Uri Caine (piano) in Ken Schaphorst's big-band work "Uprising." Three years later Naxos Records released the piece on "Purple," and the jazz media gave McCaslin's solo work rave reviews.

Donny McCaslin's reputation, technical skills, and artistic gifts are unique, attracting a long list of collaborators with whom he has performed and recorded. The saxophonist's goal is to develop his composing skills and expressive abilities further as a group leader and bandmember in a variety of ensemble settings.

Clinicians/Recitalists/Ensembles

35 Quartet

35 Quartet formed in the summer of 2011. The members are Bill Funke, Eric Daniels, Michael Culbertson and Michael Christensen. They have earned degrees from Michigan State University, Sam Houston State University, Baylor University and the University of Oklahoma respectively. This is their debut performance.

Airmen of Note

The Airmen of Note saxophone section has been performing as part of the U.S. Air Force Band Airmen of Note for over 60 years. The current section, led by Tech. Sgt. Tyler Kuebler, is a dynamic group of professionals that carries on the rich tradition of incredible sax sections that can hold their own in any musical setting. Each member is an accomplished soloist in his own right, and together they form one of the hottest sections in jazz today.

Annandale Saxophone Ensemble

The Annandale Saxophone Ensemble is a soprano through bass saxophone ensemble with drums.

They provide a variety of musical styles, but tend to specialize in well known jazz, Latin and popular standards. As performers, they come from different musical backgrounds, but share a love of the quartet/quintet format. They have performed at the 2009 and 2010 International Saxophone Symposiums, the French Embassy Musique Festival, street festivals, private parties, retirement centers, local churches, and holiday functions. The Annandale Saxophone Ensemble actively shares the versatility and musical beauty of the saxophone at every performance.

Arkansas Saxophone Quartet

The Arkansas Saxophone Quartet was formed in the fall of 2007 and consists of four outstanding saxophonists with extensive performing experience. The members are Andy Wen on soprano saxophone, Caroline Taylor on alto saxophone, Brent Bristow on tenor saxophone, and Jackie Lamar on baritone saxophone. They are the saxophone professors at the University of Arkansas Little Rock, Ouachita Baptist University, Arkansas State University-Beebe, and the University of Central Arkansas, respectively. The ensemble is equally adept at all styles of chamber music ranging from transcriptions to avant garde contemporary music. Performances of the Arkansas Saxophone Quartet include those at the North American Saxophone Alliance conferences in Columbia, S.C., and Columbia, Mo.; Navy Band International Saxophone Symposium in Fairfax, Va.; International Conferences of Arts and Humanities in Honolulu, Hawaii; the National Center for Toxicological Research; and many performances throughout Arkansas.

Musician 1st Class Kyle Augustine

Musician 1st Class Kyle Augustine, born and raised in Woodbridge, Va., joined the Navy Band in 2009. He received a Bachelor of Music in 2005 from George Mason University and a Master of Music in 2008 from the Peabody Conservatory, both in double bass performance. While at Peabody, he received the Olga Von Hartz award for outstanding string playing. He has performed at the Chautauqua Music Festival and Kent/Blossom chamber Music Festival. His teachers include Glenn Dewey, Jeffrey Koczela, Paul Johnson, Scott Haigh and Curtis Burris. Prior to joining the Navy Band, Augustine was a member of the Maryland Symphony. Additionally, he has performed with the Fairfax Symphony Orchestra, served on the faculty at Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Va., and is an active performer in the Navy Band Chamber Music Recital Series.

AVIDduo

Described by composer Paul Hayden as “clearly accomplished musicians [that] play very well together,” AVIDduo is a chamber ensemble committed to performing the music of living composers. Comprised of saxophonist Jeffery Kyle Hutchins and flutist Brittany Primavera, AVIDduo has commissioned several new works for the flute and saxophone medium by such composers as Chris Reza, John Richard, Eric Umble, and award winning Czech composer Lenka Štůralová. Both graduates of the University of North Texas, Hutchins is currently a graduate student at the University of Minnesota where he was awarded the prestigious Berniking Fellowship; Primavera is currently a highly sought-after performer and teacher in the Dallas area. Please visit www.JefferyKyleHutchins.com or www.BrittanyPrimavera.com for more information.

Musician 1st Class David Babich

Musician 1st Class David Babich, originally from Amherst, Ohio, joined the Navy Band in May 2009. He earned a Bachelor of Music in education and saxophone performance, summa cum laude, from Bowling Green State University and a Master of Music in saxophone performance from Northwestern University where he graduated with a 4.0 GPA. Prior to joining the Navy, Babich performed with the Pittsburgh Opera for their production of the Grapes of Wrath and he was the private saxophone instructor at two suburban Chicago schools. He has performed with the University of Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Northbrook Symphony Orchestra, the Toledo Repertoire Theatre, and the Bowling Green Symphony Orchestra, and in 2006 was principal saxophone in the National Wind Ensemble which performed at Carnegie Hall. He has also appeared in the Faenza

International Saxophone Festival in Faenza, Italy. An active soloist, Babich won the Bowling Green State University Concerto Competition and performed Jacques Ibert’s “Concertino da Camera” with the BGSU Philharmonia. He was also a prize winner in the Lima Symphony Young Artists’ Competition and the Agnes Fowler Competition. Additionally, Babich has commissioned and premiered a variety of works including pieces for solo saxophone, saxophone quartet, saxophone and interactive computer, and saxophone and CD accompaniment. His teachers include Frederick Hemke, John Sampen, Paul Cohen, Gunnar Mossblad, and Edward Zapor.

Tech. Sgt. Tedd Baker

SUGGESTED SATURDAY ITINERARY FOR THE YOUNG SAXOPHONIST

The U.S. Navy Band International Saxophone Symposium is free, open to the public and provided for the enjoyment and fulfillment of all members of the general community, regardless of age or musical ability. Because of this mission, we are proud to have one of the largest audiences of any saxophone-only event in the country today. Although we enthusiastically recommend all of our events, you may find the following to be the most developmentally appropriate for the school-aged saxophonist:

9:00 a.m. – Start out upstairs in the Grand Tier listening to any of the ensembles from the College Quartet Recital Series. These 30 ensembles were selected for their musical accomplishments from a nationwide search. The saxophone quartet is a powerful tool in the development of one's skill and musicality. Take the time to listen to some of these fine musicians, and make note of the sounds you hear.

9:30 a.m. – The United States Navy Band Saxophone Quartet will perform in Theater Space.

10:00 a.m. – Take the opportunity to learn about the history of the saxophone. To know what musicians have done in the past will increase one's understanding of what is practiced now and inspire creativity for the future. The Arkansas Saxophone Quartet will give a presentation on the history of the saxophone quartet in the Band Room

10:30 – Paul Lindemeyer and the Mid-Hudson Quartet will give a centennial tribute to the Six Brown Brothers in the Theater Space.

11:00 a.m. – Jim Carroll's "Improvisation for All Levels" is one of the Navy Band's most requested and perennially favorite symposium clinics. Carroll is known for his amiable approach in making the art of improvisation fun for saxophonists of all ages and abilities. Bring instruments.

1:00 p.m. – Join the Community Saxophone Choir in a rehearsal to get ready for a big performance in the lobby of the Concert Hall at 7:15 p.m. The ensemble is led by Navy Band saxophonist Musician 1st Class Todd Morrison. Please bring your choice of soprano, alto, tenor or baritone saxophone. Open to all ages and all abilities.

2:30 p.m. – Take in the sounds of a solo recital by the Navy Band's own principal saxophonist Musician 1st Class Jonathan Yanik in the Concert Hall.

3:00 p.m. – Learn how all those mechanisms on the saxophone work. Bring an instrument and discover what can be done to keep a saxophone playing in tip-top condition. Jeff Denning presents his clinic in the Band Room entitled, "Does your sax work for you or do you work for your sax?"

3:30 p.m. – Conclude the afternoon with our premiere guest jazz artist Donny McCaslin. These afternoon sessions have always been insightful and inspiring and will surely entice you to hear more at the evening closing concert with the Commodores jazz ensemble.

One hundred years ago a new voice entered the musical vernacular. The first recording by the Six Brown Brothers in 1911 introduced the sound of saxophones to a popular audience. Saxophonist and music historian Paul Lindemeyer joins forces with New York State's Mid-Hudson Saxophone Quartet in vintage arrangements transcribed from the Brothers' recordings and other archival sources.

MARK KRASZEWSKI

"Rhythm and Blues Saxophone"

This presentation will explore the history and central stylistic features of Rhythm and Blues saxophone from the 1940's through the 1960's. The talk will focus on a central saxophonist for each decade along with transcriptions from each player; namely, Illinois Jacquet, Earl Bostic and King Curtis. The presentation will also focus on the connection between rhythm and blues style and the Swing Era style of Lester Young and Coleman Hawkins.

"Communicating with the Industry: Do's Don'ts and Other Entrepreneurial Knowledge"

Do you want a formal endorsement? Or maybe you have suggestions for improving a certain product or instrument? What about getting published, or producing legitimate recordings, or getting reviews?

In today's economic climate (particularly for the arts), musician's must suit themselves with not only strong aesthetic knowledge but also strong practical knowledge of how to navigate the murky waters of limited budgets. Knowing how to effectively communicate with those who are positioned behind the scenes to advance the careers of individual musicians is absolutely critic. Join Kristen McKeon (product specialist and artist relations representative for Rico) and Connie Frigo (saxophonist, professor and founder of Road of Creativity) for a discussion on commitment communication and collaboration!

JARED SIMS

The 21st Century "Jazzical" Saxophonist

I would like to present a master class about the expectations of the saxophonist in the 21st century. I would like to include techniques with regards to tone, facility, listening, improvisation, and rhythmic awareness. The core of my discussion and performance will center on the fact that today's saxophonist is expected to be able to achieve a high level of proficiency in both "classical" and jazz areas and that performance opportunities and expressivity do not always fall within the boundaries of genre.

"The Basie Tenors: A Comparative Analysis of the Improvisations of Lester Young and Herschel Evans"

While Lester Young is rightfully hailed as a jazz giant, his bandmate Herschel Evans died young and never achieved a level of notoriety. Their recordings together as members of the Count Basie Orchestra show Evans to be comparable to Young if not his equal. By comparing their solo material on these recordings we can learn about the divergent tenor styles of the period and explore the possibilities of Herschel Evans place in jazz history had he lived longer.

This lecture will cover many of the most common areas where your saxophone makes you work too hard. What areas can the player diagnose and address? What requires the attention of a repair specialist? What super secret things do the best shops do to "get the horn out of your way?" Attendees are welcome to bring an instrument along to better follow along with descriptions of instrument anatomy or to ask a specific question.
